

I find local programming of traffic and weather serves only the radio station. To listen to ratio of 10 minutes of commercials or the same headline news to a sound bite of traffic report is pointless. Many exits that could be taken as a alternate are passed while dozens of commercials are played. I fail to see how weather is a local market issue when I would guess most people need just one dose a day of weather reports 97% of the year. I think local radio programmers bait you to wait until the end of their news cycles for weather reports. I guess that makes up for weak subject matter. Please give XM radio a chance to bear out it is a valueable service. Let the market share win the test.
